In the News: Welcome back! We hope all families have had a restful half term break. In Worship Assembly this week we have focused on Maria Corina Machado, the winner of this year’s Nobel peace Prize. We discussed the qualities you need to win such a prestigious award and how we can help stand up and speak out for unfairness in the world.

The School Council met this week to discuss some of the upcoming events and have decided to support anti-bullying week by encouraging everyone to wear odd socks on Monday 10th to celebrate being different. They also decided that to help support Children in Need, they would like a pyjama day with money being raised to support this national charity (please see attached flyer for more details).

Owl and Robin classes enjoyed a workshop with the local fire brigade learning about firework safety and the role of a firefighter. They saw a fire response car and tried to spot the blue lights as well as Miss Gallone dressing up as a firefighter!
